

Time for winter tire inspections; PHH National Accounts suppliers offering fleet tire discounts

Oct-5-2007

Reduce the risk of winter accidents and the resulting driver injuries, expense, and vehicle downtime by inspecting your fleet vehicles' tires to ensure they are:

- Appropriate for winter weather conditions
- Possess sufficient tread to provide adequate traction for your drivers

There are two primary considerations regarding tire traction:

- Tire wear
Over time, tires begin to harden. The harder the tire, the less it tends to grip the road and provide adequate traction. Traction issues are typically noticed between 4/32" and 6/32" of tread thickness, and worn out at 2/32".
- Groove/sipe depth
As a tire wears, the loss of groove/sipe depth influences the ability to dissipate water or slush from under the tires. This becomes noticeable to drivers well before tires are considered worn out at 2/32" tread thickness.

Keep the safety of your fleet vehicles' tires in mind

Now is the perfect time to equip your fleet with appropriate winter tires. PHH's National Accounts partners - Goodyear Canada, Michelin, and Bridgestone/Firestone - are all featuring fleet tire discounts, as outlined in the table below:
