

Finding operational fuel stations in southern California

Oct-25-2007

As the wildfires continue to wreak havoc in southern California, this creates a challenge for any company drivers in this area. In order to assist you and your drivers, our fuel network partner is providing online access to a Fuel Station Mapping tool. This tool is available to anyone without the need for a user ID and password.

Visit <http://www.wrightexpress.com/> and click on the Fuel Supply Report icon.

The link takes you to a web page with instructions on how to use the Fuel Price Mapping feature to find sites. The search results provide the most recent transaction time (updated every few minutes); therefore, you can sort the list to determine where the most recent transactions took place. You also have the option to download the data into an Excel spreadsheet.

All drivers that contact PHH's Driver Response Team will also have the ability to ask them for assistance in locating an operational fuel station. As we identify alternative resources to help you manage through this situation, we will communicate them in News Updates or through your PHH Account Team. If you have any specific, urgent needs, please contact your PHH Account Team.
